Frank Jackson, the negro who is wanted for the East Washington outrage, has not yet been ar-rested. Two theories are entertained by the police. He is well known to the police, and it is not thought probable that he can long evade arrest.

But it was destined to a brief career, and has been a lattle sufferer up to the time of its death, which occurred y sterday morning. Through the long nights of many a weary week Dr. Howe—when all cise of the world save new paperdom was slumbering—has divided his hours between his duties at his desk in the office and his vigils over the cradle of his slowly expiring chief. Boone's and Watts's names. The court sustained the objection in regard to Watts, but held that Boone was a member of the combination at the commencement. The table showed that Dersey put in 288 bids, and was lowest bidder on 48;
Miner, 218 bids, lowest bidder on 46; Peck, 199 was then called and sworn. He first met Walsh with Governor Pachard and Senatar Kellegg at the Riegs House in the spring of 1878. Asked by Mr. Wilson if Walsh had ever paid him $1,000 on account of Brady's indebtedness to the witness. Objected to, and after argument declared admissible. Mr. Wilson repeated his quistion. The witness testified that Walsh never paid him $1,000 an account of General Erndy. Walsh paid him $1,000 for services in connection with an investigation that was going on in relation to two contracts of Walsh's. The witness was not acquainted with Mr. Brady at that time. Cross-examined by Mr. Merrick: The investigation was by the sub-committee of the Committee of the House on Appropriations. It was in the latter part of December, 1879, and January and P brancy, 1880. The first conversation he had with Brady was in February, 1890: Brady never transferred to the Witness and railroad slock, not did he receive any dividends on any stock from Brady. He desired having said to Mr. Nelson, correspondent of the Baston Post, or any one else, in the winter of 1800 1831 that Mr. Brady had solicited his aid as a correspondent on the Star-route cases. Mr. Brady might have asked him to write articles but noch. Basion Post, or any one else, in the winter of 1850 or 1881 that Mr. Brady had solicited his aid as a correspondent on the Star-route cases. Mr. Brady might have asked him to write articles, but nothing bearing on matters that he was testifying to. He had no recollection of a conversation with Nelson in Lafayette Park. He had frequently conversed with newspaper man about Brady, and written articles on the case in layor of Brady, as he believed that side to be right. He never told Nelson that Brady was going to give him a deal in Nashville and Chattanooga st-ck: he might have said that he made money in st-cks, but never in that, as he had nothing to do with it. The $1,900 Waish paid him was in the nature of a retainer to use his influence in securing the appopriation for the deficiency of the Past-Office Department. He was also engaged by Mr. Monroe saubsoury and paid by him. Before he did any work for Waish he resigned his Senate clerkship. Mr. Finatt wrote him that Mr. Boynton had informed him (Platt) that the witness was to be indicted. He saw Boynton, and drew his aften ion to the fact that the saune only probable of officers of the H we and Sonae from being interested in any onling but an appropriation bill wis not a claim. He had had fram actions—berrowing money—with Walsh for a year and a half before the investigation. He had that actilement. His present eccupation was

Mr. Brady loaned him $19,000 to purchase the controlling interest in the Capital from Donn Piant in March, 1889. He gave his notes for the money and stock as coniateral. When he couldn't pay the notes Mr. Brady bought the paper and he was employed as the editor. He identified an article that appeared in the Capital June 26, 1881, under the heading.

as having been written by himself. Several other articles were shown the witness. The defense raised an objection, but the court admitted them to show the bias. On redirect Mr. Wison wished to show that the articles were in answer to attacks on the defendants. Judge Wylie Gee hed to admit it, and administered a sharp rebute on "hireling libelers." To Mr. Carpenter: he did not know that any other defendant basies Mr. Brady was interested in the Capital or tritic. The court then adjourned.

The Oldest Inhabitants.

The society met at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at their room in the Corcoran building, President Jenkin Thomas in the chair and Mr. N. Callan secretary. Mr. Knowles, from the committee on elections, to whom was referred the nominations for membership of C. J. Bowen and William N. Cannon, reported favorably, and they were duly admitted to memicership. Mr. Nash, from the select committee appointed for that purpose, reported the following resolution, which was read and unanimously adopted:

The Fire Commissioners.

The regular monthly meeting of the B and of At 230 p. m. the audience was called to order by the Rev. Mr. Norris, who, after briefly stating the Fire Commissioners was held last night. The report of Chief Gronin showed there had been fourteen alarms during the month entailing a loss of $1,412 on which there was $4,137 insurance. The applications of R. S. Keffo and P. P. Wagner for positions as privates on the force were received. The chief engineer in his report called attention to the construction of the roof on the new Post-Office building at the corner of Eighth and E streets, and suggested some alterations and improvements. The superintendent of the fire alarm telegraph reported that a new signal box No. 116, had been exceted at the corner of Twelfth and Water streets southwest, and that box 31 had been removed from the oil Navy Department building to the Winder building. An invitation was read inviting the chief engineer to attend the next annual convention of the engineers at Cincinnatt, Ohlo, on September 12. Also an lavitation from an age at of the American Fre Shied Company to withessam exhibition of their esbasios carrain on Seventeenthsire t next saturday evaning. The invitation was accepted.

Equitable Building Association.
The thirty-fourth regular meeting of the above-numed association was held at Marini's Hall last night, H. B. Twombly, first vice-president, pre-string and John Jay Edson secretary. Elevan thousand seven hundred dollars were disposed of thousand seven tundered dollars were disposed of as an average premium of 02 per cent. The monthly payments on $1,000 at this m's will be for the first year as follows: Oa return of the principal, $10,63; premium on interest, $5,16; total, $5,09. The interest is reduced 10 per cent each yea . Eighty-dive payments will light set the loan. This association, as the name impites, is managed upon "equivable" principles, the borrower knowing precisely what the payment will be and the rate of interest that is being paid. The system is most simple and most radily understood, the puzzling and compileated features of most building associations being overcome, as that myone can readily understand its working.
